Medicare recommends people over the age of 65 to get a memory screening every year.

Why get a memory screening?

Early diagnosis of dementia allows individuals to better prepare for their future care, make treatment and end of life decisions, and establish legal and financial plans while cognitively capable.

How long does it take and when will I receive the results?

A memory screening consists of a 30-minute personal interview. You will have the results right away and discuss them with our Certified Dementia Practitioner.
