

RADICAL WOMEN

Fighting for Power and the Vote in New Jersey!

Radical Women commemorates the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment, which legally granted American women the right to vote. It illuminates the courage of New Jersey women — rich and poor, African American and white, native born and immigrant — who fought for their rights and demanded visibility and justice for themselves and their communities.

Our gratitude to the galleries and artists who have generously loaned their art for inclusion in this exhibition: Gallery Aferro, Gladys Grauer (In Memoriam), Donna Conklin, Asha Ganpat, Diane Savona and Leslie Sheryll

On view January 23 –
December 31, 2020

3rd Floor Gallery, Newark Public Library
5 Washington St., Newark, NJ

Noelle Lorraine Williams
Researcher and Curator