This has been a year of challenges and changes, yet we have had some marvelous accomplishments. We have felt the shockwaves of the economic downturn, but have succeeded in carrying out the Library’s mission, and have had no palpable cuts in services. As you peruse the pages of this report, you will read about the Library’s many successes. I am very proud to share these with you.

After four years as the president of the Board of Trustees, Trish Morris-Yamba passed the president’s gavel to Jeffrey A. Vanderbeek. We recognize Ms. Morris-Yamba for her numerous contributions and years of service in this role, and thank Mr. Vanderbeek for taking on this important responsibility. Ms. Morris-Yamba continues to serve on the Board. We also welcome Jill Johnson, Sandra King, Bari Mattes, and James Simmons as new board members.

Patrons turn to the Library for leisure reading, lifelong learning, and for research. The Library is also here to help our patrons find job opportunities, learn new computer skills, and redesign their resumes. As the public takes advantage of these wonderful offerings, we have seen an increase in our circulation, computer use, and classes attended.

The Library has been fortunate to be the recipient of the generous gifts of time, materials, and money from our supporters. These, coupled with the dedication and professionalism of the Library staff, have allowed us to continue to offer extraordinary programming, exhibits, and essential services to our public at a time when they are needed more than ever. As we look toward the future, we are excited by the prospect of making this great institution even better.

I invite you to visit us soon!

Warm regards,

Wilma J. Grey
Director, The Newark Public Library

Program Highlights

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Our Black History Month celebration featured African American authors and their works. The exhibit, Entrusted to Our Keeping: The Legacy of African-American Literary Societies in Newark, the Nation, the World served as a rich background to the month’s festivities.

The opening reception “What’s Hip-Hop Got to Do with It?” a community discussion about the impact of hip-hop on African-American literature was moderated by Dr. Margaret Hayes of Bethany Book Club. Nina Mitchell Wells, New Jersey Secretary of State, was the special guest speaker. Panelists included Ron Kavanaugh of MosaicBooks.com; Herb Boyd, author of Baldwin’s Harlem: A Biography; Gilda Rogers, author of Arrested Development: The State of Black Achievement and Education in Hip-Hop America; Irene Daniels, Newark Literacy Campaign; Elyse Smith, student, Bloomfield College; and Edna Bailey-Woody, motivational speaker.

Other programs included:
■ A discussion and book signing for Creating Black Americans, by Nell Irvin Painter, Ph.D.
■ The Harlem Writers Guild: Authors K.C. Washington, Eugene Hopgood, Grace F. Edwards, and Ganny L. Singer read from and discussed their works.
■ Conversations with African-American Authors, documentaries featuring August Wilson and Alice Walker
■ Writing the Marvelous Real: Magical Realism for 20th Century Voices, a fiction writing workshop with Sheree Renée Thomas
■ Read-In: Read Your Favorite African-American Author, at which participants read excerpts from books by black authors

HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

Hispanic Heritage Month celebrations this year centered on films from the Hispanic world as both an agent and a reflection of change. The accompanying exhibit, Reel Diversity: Film in the Hispanic World, complemented the films shown. The opening reception featured speaker Carlos Gutiérrez, Director of Cinema Tropical.

Additional film programs included:
■ Como Agua para Chocolate and Angelitos Negros (from Mexico)
■ La Gran Fiesta and La Guagua Aérea (from Puerto Rico)
■ Fresa y Chocolate and Memorias del Subdesarrollo (from Cuba)
■ Volver and El espíritu de la Colmena (from Spain)
■ Camila and La Historia Oficial (from Argentina)
■ Emerging Latino Filmmakers, a panel discussion moderated by Louis E. Perego Moreno, President of Skyline Features. Panelists were Sonia González-Martínez, Betty García, Edwin Pagán, Adel Morales, and Francisco Bello.
Other programs in the celebration were Mondongo Scam, a bilingual solo theater piece written and performed by acclaimed artist, Claudio Mir, and A New Jersey Hispanic Research and Information Center reception featuring the presentation of the book Cuentos: Stories from Puerto Rico, edited by Kal Wagenheim.

Youth Services

The Newark Public Library’s Main Library and branches provide a wide variety of programs and activities, both instructional and entertaining, for children and teens.

Hooray for Children, a monthly series of live performances by puppeteers, storytellers, magicians, and theater groups, presented Raps, Rhymes’n Reasons; Save the Earth Magic Show; The Day It Snowed Tortillas: Stories and Songs of Latin America; and Taino’s Caribbean Holiday.

During Family Week at the Theater, sponsored by the New Jersey Theatre Alliance, the East Lynne Theater Company performed Victorian Magic and Youth Stages presented Oz and The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe.

Daniel Kirk, author and illustrator of over thirty books for children, shared his writing and drawing program with young readers at all eleven of the Library’s children’s rooms.

Club Success, funded by the Newark Public Schools, celebrated fifteen years of teacher-supervised homework assistance at all library locations.

“Catch the Reading Bug” was this year’s children’s theme for the Prudential Foundation’s Summer Reading Challenge. “Metamorphosis” was the theme for the teen challenge. Together, the children and teens read over 14,000 books.

Kids Unscripted Summer Theater Workshops, funded by Carol Greene Duncan, were held at the North End, Springfield, Van Buren, and Weequahic branches.

The Springfield Branch Library continued to present programs and services for students planning to attend college. Volunteers Lyndon Brown, Wilhelmina Holder, and Erika Jackson conduct free test-preparation classes and organize college fairs. Funding is provided by a grant from the Charles Emil Thenen Foundation.

Programs at the Branches, sponsored by the Newark Public Schools, extend children’s learning outside of the classroom. All programs were presented to conform to the New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards. Among the offerings were: Richard Stillman’s A World of Music and Dance, The Yo-Yo Guy, Piccirillo Scienctelling’s The Jungle of Jersey, Fun on a String Puppets and Marionettes, Okra Dance Company’s Dance from Africa to Broadway, and the Insectropolis Bug Museum.

Learning about Myself and My World invites pre-K and kindergarten students to visit the Library for half-day extended classroom experiences. Library card registration, story time, and other activities reinforce early literacy learning.

To observe holidays, seasons, the presidential election, the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing, and multicultural themes, staff provided arts and crafts, music, games, films, and computer activities for children.
Collections and Services Highlights

Ever a cornerstone of library service, reference and research services flourished as librarians continued to use the Library's vast resources to find answers to questions simple and complex from patrons near and far. Other service-related highlights follow:

The New Jersey Illustration Index, a 188-drawer card-file index to pictures and pictures in publications, was digitized and is now accessible in Clavis, the Library's catalog. This project was supported by funds from the New Jersey Historical Commission.

Popular computer classes expanded in 2008 to include: PowerPoint 2, Beginning Genealogy (finding your family roots using websites and databases available at the Library), Google Features, and Oh, the Sites You’ll See (surprising and new resources on the Internet).

The Library reinstated bulk-loan service of world-language books to New Jersey libraries.

The free American Sign Language (ASL) classes and English as a Second Language/English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESL/ESOL) classes continued to be well attended. The newly revived Deaf Awareness Club of Newark, NJ resumed meetings at the Main Library.

The Main Library began offering fax services to the public.

New computer hardware installed in the Charles F. Cummings New Jersey Information Center, the Reference Center, the Victoria Technology Center, and at the Madison and First Avenue branches enhanced public computing.

The Library extended its reach by partnering with other city agencies. The Weequahic Branch hosted the RACBLA Super Neighborhood meeting where Council President Mildred Crump was honored along with others from the community; Curt Idrogo spoke to a group of twenty school librarians at the Newark Public Schools' offices; and The Library participated in the Newark Arts Council's Open Doors '08 Gallery Crawl.
Wilma Grey was chosen to be an elector for the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the Democratic Party in the 2008 election. Ms. Grey was also honored for community service by the Thurgood Marshall College Fund.

Heidi Cramer assumed her duties as President of the New Jersey Library Association.

The New Jersey Library Association gave public relations awards to the Library for the Fall 2007 edition of the Second Century newsletter featuring the Harry Potter Knight bus and for the invitation to the Irish in Newark and New Jersey exhibition.

Jim Capuano and Deirdre Schmidel presented “Patent and Trademark Searching for Public Libraries: How to Help Businesses, Inventors and Students” at the NJLA annual conference.

Chad Leineweaver’s presentation at NJLA was “Trash or Treasure/To Fix or Not to Fix? Topics for ‘Tough Love’ in Collection Development.” Mr. Leineweaver was also appointed Chair of the New Jersey Studies Academic Alliance Book Awards.

Yesenia Lopez presented a poster session at the NJLA Conference, “The New Jersey Hispanic Research and Information Center @ the Newark Public Library.”

Nayda Santiago received the New Jersey Association of Library Assistants’ 2008 Rita L. Hilbert Scholarship.

Joseph Casale was named President of the Rotary Club of Newark.

Ingrid Betancourt was selected by the Institute of Museum and Library Services/Heritage Preservation to attend “Preserving America’s Diverse Heritage” at Atlanta’s High Museum of Art. Ms. Betancourt also received the Community Honoree Award from the Annual Statewide Puerto Rican Parade Committee.

Paula Baratta was honored by the School Leadership Team IV with the Community Support award for Elliott Street School.

Anthony Clark served as a Paul Robeson Competition judge for the Black Film Festival.

Jared Ash’s article, “More Than Words: Artists’ Books and Book Art,” was published in the Fall edition of The Journal of the Printed World. Mr. Ash was also a speaker on a panel at the Annual Conference of the Ephemera Society of America.

William Dane was featured in an article “Librarian Honored for 60 Years on the Job” in the AFSCME Works magazine for March/April 2008.

Sandra L. West was awarded a Literary Nonfiction Fellowship from the Virginia Center for the Creative Arts.
Fundraising Special Events

“BOOK CLASSIC” GOLF TOURNAMENT
The Newark Public Library’s “Book Classic” Golf Tournament was held at the Plainfield Country Club in Edison on July 22. Proceeds from the fundraiser benefited the 2008 Annual Fund Campaign.

MARIA DECASTRO BLAKE AWARDS
Newark Public Library’s New Jersey Hispanic Research and Information Center hosted the annual Maria DeCastro Blake dinner at the Newark Airport Marriott on April 30. Lillian Hernández, Executive Director of Dress for Success Jersey City, Anna “Cuqui” Rivera, Outreach Manager of the Hispanic Directors Association of New Jersey, and William Q. Sánchez, Executive Producer of New Jersey Network’s Images/Imágenes, were honored. Mary Bustillo Donohue, a Bergen County Freeholder, received the Maria DeCastro Blake Lifetime Achievement Award. Verizon New Jersey, a sponsor of this annual celebration, received the Corporate Partnership Award.

BOOKED FOR THE EVENING
Dennis Bone, President of Verizon New Jersey, chaired the Newark Public Library’s annual gala dinner, Booked for the Evening, at Nanina’s in the Park on November 13. Susan Bass Levin of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey and Paul J. St. Onge, Esq. of Gibbons P.C. co-chaired the event committee. The gala honored former library board President and Executive Director of the Newark Day Center Trish Morris-Yamba and her husband Essex County College President A. Zachary Yamba; retired Superintendent of Newark Schools, Marion A. Bolden; longtime Newark Public Library users and advocates Andrea and Warren Grover; and McCarter & English, LLP. The event raised nearly $200,000 for the Library’s Annual Fund Campaign.

The Friends of the Newark Public Library continued to gather oral histories from their members and longtime staff about their experiences at the Library. They held their annual book sale in April and donated over $10,000 for the purchase of furniture and books for the Special Services Room and for Young Adult materials. On behalf of the Library, the Friends received a grant of $32,500 from the New Jersey Cultural Trust to be used for oral history, collection preservation, and indexing.
The Newark Public Library wishes to extend sincere gratitude to the individuals, corporations, foundations, and organizations listed here for their generous support throughout 2008. These donors have made contributions toward one or more of the following areas: the Annual Fund Campaign, the Friends of The Newark Public Library, the Book Classic Golf Tournament, the Booked for the Evening Gala, the Library Research and Information Center, and the Hellenic Heritage Fund. Thanks to the generosity of these thoughtful benefactors the Library is able to continue enriching lives and expanding horizons. We apologize in advance for any misspellings or omissions and ask that you contact the Development Office at 973-424-1832 to report any errors.
